PRODUCER

Bellwether is the brainchild of Sue Bell, based in the 1868 Glen Roy Shearing Shed in Coonawarra. Sue makes wines in Coonawarra as well as other regions of Australia, including as far afield as Tasmania. Her selection of fruit is classics from cool climates but also playing with mediterranean varieties suited to dry climates. Climate change underlies every decision in winemaking for Bellwether wines, from appropriate varietal/region matches to sustainable winemaking. Texture and complexity intrigue Sue and are hallmarks of how her wines are made - 100% indigenous yeast and gently handled.

VITICULTURE + VINIFICATION

Chardonnay from the Tamar Valley in cool-climate Tasmania. Hand-picked to preserve the fruit and fermented using the indigenous yeasts of the vineyard ahead of being transported (as juice) back to Sue's small winery in Coonawarra. Whole bunch pressed directly into tight grain, large 500-litre French oak barrels for natural fermentation. Yes.

TASTING NOTE

Hallmark 'struck match' aroma reminiscent of fireworks, giving way to a tightly focused citrus flavour, some ripe melon. Extraordinary texture and mouthfeel, and very long.
