PRODUCER

Brothers Christian and Andrea Tombacco are the third generation to produce wine in the Veneto, their farm having been founded by their grandfather Batista in 1899. Their vineyards are farmed organically and to explain the name of their winery '47 Anno Domini' they sit on the Via Augustus, a Roman route connecting Venice to the plains beyond the Brenner pass, which was completed under the rule of Emperor Claudius Augustus in 47AD. These are wines made in traditional fashions, including the tappo spago cork closure, a symbol of their desire to move forward while never forgetting their heritage.

VITICULTURE + VINIFICATION

Quality fruit is sourced from a number of plots in the provinces of Treviso, Padua, Belluno, Venice, Vicenza for the Veneto Region and the provinces of Gorizia, Pordenone, Trieste and Udine for the region Friuli Venezia Giulia. In the winery we hand selected healthy grapes. Fermentation then occurred over a period of 4 days in stainless steel tanks to retain freshness. After alcoholic fermentation, the base wine was put into a pressurised vat held at a controlled low temperature for secondary fermentation. The wine was then filtered and decanted before being bottled. No This wine was only aged in stainless steel to maintain fruit purity.

TASTING NOTE

Delicately scented wine combining an appealing citrus taste and a fresh fruity nose of grapefruit and green apples. Veneto's aperitif of excellence.
